V. Reasoned statement under Article 35(2) with regard to novelty, inventive step or industrial applicability; citations and explanations supporting such statement1. Statement

Novelty (N)	Claims	1-11	YES
	Claims		NO
Inventive step (IS)	Claims	1-11	YES
	Claims		NO
Industrial applicability (IA)	Claims	1-11	YES
	Claims		NO

2. Citations and explanations (Rule 70.7)

Amended claims were filed on 13.08.2001.

The invention relates to an adjustable spinal brace, comprising a posterior frame and an abdominal pad interconnected by a connection means. The connection means comprises iliac rolls and straps. The straps are connected to the abdominal pad. According to the amended claims the posterior frame also has an adjustable lumbar pad provided with pressure setting means for setting the distance between the pad and the frame.

In the International search Report the following documents were cited:

(D1) US 3945376 A
(D2) US 2934883 A
(D3) DE3522533 A1
(D4) SE 454944 B

The documents reveal different spinal braces. However, none of the documents nor any relevant combination of them, reveal an adjustable spinal brace according to the restricted claims. It is true that document (D4) reveals a lumbar pad, but the pad is used in a device for testing out a spinal orthose or corset that has no iliac rolls.

Hence, the invention is novel. The invention is also not obvious to a person skilled in the art. Accordingly, it involves an inventive step. The industrial applicability is obvious.
